APPLYING FOR · ENTREPRENEURSHIP INSTRUCTOR (AI TRAINING) · ALIGNERR / LABELBOX

Johannes le Roux.

Not a coach. An operator who coaches.

leroux.johannes@gmail.com · entrepreneurcoach.co.za · linkedin.com/in/johannesleroux · Cape Town, South Africa

Operator first, instructor second. I have built and sold consumer brands, and I now teach founders how to run them — which means most weeks I read business plans, models and go-to-market thinking and say plainly which parts would not survive a real market. That is the judgement this role asks for, pointed at AI output instead of a founder's deck.

TEACHING ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Entrepreneur Coach

Founder · Cape Town

One-to-one coaching and small-group workshops for owner-operators — unit economics, pricing, route to market, and the decision to commit capital or not. Founding cohorts sell out at R3,500 a seat, eight people at a time, in a market where free AI content is abundant.

UCT Graduate School of Business

Facilitator · executive education

International immersion programmes for EMBA and executive groups, including China. Programme design and company visits, working with cohorts of experienced operators, not students.

Claude for Entrepreneurs

Three-hour applied workshop

Written and run end to end: curriculum, materials, and per-attendee preparation. Each participant arrives with a real business problem and a real, messy file and leaves with a working artefact built off their own numbers. Published, repeatable, and open-sourced.

BUILDING AND SELLING BUSINESSES

The Duchess

Co-founder · alcohol-free drinks

Built from nothing to more than 10 million units sold across five countries. Retail listings, distribution and export — the full commercial arc, not the pitch-deck version of it.

Get Lucky Golf Club

Founder · golf activation platform

Hole-in-One Challenge across 30+ premium courses and 600+ golf days a year, tech-enabled with AI shot-tracing and video capture. Revenue across entry fees, sponsorship and partnerships; currently expanding beyond South Africa.

DOPE Drinks

Founder · cannabis beverages, USA

A brand built for a regulated, fast-moving US category — and useful practice at judging plans that assume regulation will behave.

WORKING WITH AI, IN PRACTICE

Applied AI for operators

Teaching and building

I teach non-technical founders to get real work out of AI systems, and I build alongside them: retailer sales analysis across three national grocery chains, subscription viability models, project profitability tools, live commercial sites. Seventeen things shipped in a year, without being a developer.

Evaluating AI output critically

Where this role fits

The recurring job in my work is catching where a plausible-looking answer is wrong: a total that triple-counts because the file repeats each product per pack size; a subscription model that only hits its target if churn is assumed away; a forecast whose margin survives only because working capital was left out.

WHAT I BRING TO THE BRIEF

Business models & venture viability
Unit economics, contribution margin, working capital, break-even, channel economics.

Financial projections
Building them, and spotting the ones that only work because something was left out.

Independent, async delivery
Two businesses and a coaching practice run on self-set deadlines. Remote, task-based work is how I already operate. English and Afrikaans.

Reading plans and decks critically
Where the market sizing is wishful, where the CAC assumption is borrowed, where the plan silently needs a second raise.

Structured written feedback
The daily work of coaching: say what is wrong, why it matters, and what to do instead.

Available 10–40 hours a week · remote · UTC+2

References and written samples on request